Polish cuisine in Manila, the Philippines

2016-11-02 03:43:18

Pierogi (plural for 'pierog') are Polish dumplings. A quick search online reveals that this "humble" staple is classically filled with meat, sauerkraut, mushroom, potato, and cheese. Now they are available in Manila, the Philippines.

The force behind Babci is the husband and wife team of Peter and Mia Pysk. Peter and Mia were the couple that made pierogi for their friends.

After some time they realized that there is a demand for new tastes in the metropolitan Manila.. The dream became a reality. From more than a year the Polish dumplings and sausages are available in numerous food shops and as an on-line order. "Babci Kuchnia" (means "Grandmother's Kitchen") offers them in a wide variety of flavours. From the very traditional ones to sweet bites, which can be consumed as a dessert.

Bon Appetite!
